- Membership
 - Program membership is open to current AlphaSense customers in good standing with a vested interest in advocating for AlphaSense. AlphaSense reserves the right to revoke program membership at any time if 1) the member leaves their company, or 2) AlphaSense revokes the customer's good standing status. AlphaSense also retains the right to reject program admittance if the applicant does not qualify based on the program's participation standards.
 - Joining the AlphaSense Accelerate program doesn't necessarily warrant permission from the customer's company. However, many of the program's activities require customers to grant permission to AlphaSense to share the customer's logo in internal and external marketing materials. As such, members are encouraged to review their company's policy around external advocacy before joining the program.

- Communications
 - By joining the AlphaSense Accelerate program, members automatically opt in to receive email communications regarding upcoming activities and special program offers. Please be aware that opting out of program emails may subject your program membership status to further evaluation.

- Rewards
 - AlphaSense Accelerate members are occasionally offered rewards for their participation in the program. Members are encouraged to review their company's compliance policy to confirm their accessibility to receive gifts from external vendors. Members can opt out of receiving gifts if they wish.
